Why do you care about standing up to hate and intolerance?

This is the question Not In Our Town is posing with our new "Who Cares? I Do!" YouTube video campaign, and we want you to be a part of it! We're asking you to make a video response about why you're ready to stand up to hate.

Need some inspiration? Watch some of the video responses we've received so far, and read some tips for making your own video.

Every week, we're highlighting one community-generated video on the NIOT Facebook page. Share why you care, and yours could be next!

YWCA's Stand Against Racism

Hundreds of people gathered hands, cities across the nation held poetry slams, and thousands of people wore buttons against discrimination as part of the YWCA's Stand Against Racism, a program that aims to bring people together from all walks of life to raise awareness that racism still exists.

Learn more about the creative and inspiring Stand Against Racism campaigns from OneKanawha-Charleston, Not In Our Town Princeton, YWCA of Asheville, and others on the NIOT blog.

Walking While Brown: Racial Profiling in Arizona

What is the human impact of Arizona's controversial new legislation aimed at undocumented immigrants? That's the question Not In Our Town activist Hugh Vasquez explores in his recent essay on the NIOT blog.

Vasquez, a partner with the Center for Diversity Leadership and a Senior Associate at the Bay Area Coalition for Equitable Schools, writes that his concern is not with the intentions of those who wrote the law, but its impact on the state's Latino residents and the inevitable racial profiling that will result. Read the full post and share your thoughts.

The NIOT Network is Talking About... Ethnic Studies

There's a lively discussion happening on the NIOT Facebook page. This week, we asked the NIOT Facebook community to share their experiences with ethnic studies classes. Visit the NIOT Facebook page to add your voice to the discussion.
